Your aircooled VW supplier

PREFACE

As announced the last time, there seems again to be some spirit in the economies of the world.. There is even a small light in the tunnel! Let's hope that each unemployed person finds a job again and that it may result to a better understanding of the world peace, because apparently we don't get out. As inhabitant of a multicultural metropolis with an important seaport I'm aware of the existence and the importance of different cultures and their values. Wouldn't it be very dull for the humanity if tomorrow the entire world population would live an existence according to the same standards and values? Imagine that tomorrow the people in Africa will assume the Western culture? Which is considered by some people as the 'only value' or the 'only way of civilisation'. Wouldn't it be sad that one of the oldest cultures would be swallowed by the western consumer society? The same applies in fact also for our small Volkswagen world. You can't ignore our different movements, from stock, vintage, Calook, rest cal or Custom. Suppose that we'd all have the same taste, all the same colours and shape of house, car and friend/girl friend, what would this world be a kind of dull colorless stuff... No give me rather this odd world of mixed Volkswagen meetings! I invite willingly the different leaders of the world to learn something of it, tolerance and harmony could be the nicest present to the world population on Christmas day 2003, or perhaps for 2004? Let us hope, because when we hope all together it will certainly come true!

A good year of harmony and tolerance in all what you do or don't, much work, good business and hopefully I'll see you at one or another meeting, fair or exhibition this year, because personal contact is still the most important thing! Happy 2004!

Bob
